

ONE HOUSE MANY NATION PRESENTS:

HOME INTERIORS & FURNISHINGS IN REMOTE NORTHERN FIRST NATION COMMUNITIES: EXPLORING SUSTAINABLE AND CULTURALLY APPROPRIATE SOLUTIONS THROUGH THE MINO BIMAADIZIWIN HOMEBUILDERS

7:00 PM (CT)

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 15, 2020

RSVP BY EMAILING: ohmn.info@gmail.com

CATRINA SALLESE, BID
RESEARCH ASSISTANT,
ONE HOUSE MANY NATIONS

DESCRIPTION:

This Webinar explores ways in which to address the ongoing housing crisis in remote Northern FN communities. Indigenous design philosophy helps to define what Indigenous design and architecture is, creating the foundation for a culturally appropriate housing solution to build upon. Theories of resiliency, sustainability and the Honourable Harvest uncover ways to build homes that not only sustain the people living within them but also sustains the land in which the raw materials are harvested from. The complexity that is home ownership on-reserve is addressed as building strategies and energy independence contributes to self-determination. Lastly it is with the lessons learned from historical and modern Indigenous home design that grounds findings from literature in real life housing solutions.